THE PEONY

CO make more real our slogan—"Everything That Is Good and Hardy"—we have purchased the entire stock of Peonies from that lifelong enthusiast and specialist, Mr. E. A. Reeves, of Chagrin Falls, Ohio.

This stock of 100,000 plants includes the Gold Medal Collection with which he took many prizes.

If June had done nothing but give us roses, it would have been enough to have immortalized it as the Flower Month. But Nature is lavish of her gifts to the limit of prodigality. It would take more than a page to even mention the names of the flowers that bloom in June, and it is our purpose here to mention but one.

The Peony is a close rival of the rose, either for planting or for cutting. Its iron-clad hardiness, adaptability to varying soils and locations, its wealth of bloom, richness of fragrance, and variety of color, all go to make it a general favorite. So we find it in a single clump by the cottage door or in pleasing variety in the flower garden; in costly and rare varieties in the grounds of the collector, and in extensive plantings in parks and in the grounds of the wealthy.

The plant we send out is a strong, healthy, three- to five-eye plant, not the small two- to three-eye division often sold and which we believe is too small to give satisfaction. Our plants will often throw one or two good blooms the first season.

For more immediate effect we advise the five- to nine-eye, three year clump.

October is the best month in which to plant Peonies, although they are planted fairly satisfactorily in March or early April. In planting, cover the "eyes" with about two inches of soil and use a slight mulch. Too deep planting is the cause of many Peonies not blooming. Fertilize with bone-meal, wood ashes and sparingly with stable manure.

The figure on the margin is the rating given by the Peony Society, using ten (10) as a perfect Peony.

You will note that we are listing only about twenty-five of the best kinds, making a good concise list which we believe will fill all of your requirements. However, we have a great many other varieties and would be glad to quote you on any special variety you may want.

Prices are for three- to five-eye plants. Five to nine-eye, three year clumps for twice the price.

THE IRIS

The Iris has justly been called the "Poor Man's Orchid". In curious shapes, in richness and variety of colorings it is in close rivalry with that exquisite aristocrat among flowers, and what makes it more popular and valuable is that it requires none of the professional care and coddling which the orchid must have.

Varieties can be selected which will grow in almost any kind of soil possessing a fair degree of fertility. Of course, the better the soil, the more satisfactory will be the results.

Fertilize sparingly with bone meal. Stable manure is injurious.

The Japanese Iris thrive much better in fairly heavy soil and a wet location. In planting, barely cover to the crown with soil.

Zulu. Black. Per three 25c, per ten 65c, per 100 $4.50.

BREEDER TULIPS—Tall May flowering tulips similar to the Darwin but characterized by unusual colorings ranging from golden yellow-bronze to terracotta, purple, and wine-red. Price, any variety, per three 35c, per ten 90c, per 100 $7.00.

Aspacia. Dull wine red. Large flowers on strong stem.

Black Diamond. Mahogany, edged light brown, center black.

Butterfly. Lilac, edges light lilac.

Madras. Dark bronze yellow and old gold.

Queen Alexandria. Sulphur yellow, tipped brown.

NARCISSUS

For bedding, Narcissi should be planted the same as Tulips, or they may be forced in pots for winter cutting or decoration. Many varieties are particularly desirable for cutting on account of their long stems and graceful, sweet scented flowers.

We understand that there will be an embargo on the importation of Narcissi after this year, which will cause a great shortage and rise in price. However, as Narcissi naturalize quite easily and bloom year after year for a long period, we would advise a large planting in a good assortment this fall.
